WHAT DO YOU LEARN IN THEATRE?

In theater class, students learn the fundamentals of acting, including voice, movement, and character development, while also exploring the technical aspects of production such as lighting, set design, and stage management.

Additionally, they develop life skills like teamwork, communication, and creative problem-solving, which are essential both on and off the stage.

ARIZONA STATE SEAL OF ARTS PROFICIENCY

To earn the diploma seal students must complete a designated pathway achieving a final GPA of 3.0 or 4.0 in arts or CTE courses, earn a minimum of 4 credits in an artistic discipline(s) and/or CTE classes, participate in 80 hours of arts-related extracurricular activities, and complete a student capstone project. The pathway is intended to recognize students who successfully graduate with a rigorous, standards-based arts education.

The Interview

1. Send one student out of the room far away enough so they cannot hear what is going on.
2. The class decides what job the person who is gone is interviewing for. Once you have a job have the person who left come back.
3. The person sits in front of class and the rest of class asks them interview questions based on that job. The person being interviewed needs to guess what job they are interviewing for.

Example: Mary leaves class and while she is gone the class decides she is going to interview for Santa Clause. Another student goes to bring her back and has her sit in front of the room. Students ask her questions such as “What is your favorite type of cookie? Would you be willing to gain 200 pounds for this job? Do you get along with children? How do you feel about reindeer? Mary then guesses that she is interviewing for Santa Clause. Then she picks a new person to leave.

THANK YOU

Hope you had fun!
